DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 2, 4-11, 13-20 and 22-27 are pending in this application. Applicants arguments and amendments have been fully considered. The IDS filed 2/22/05 has been entered and considered. Upon final review, the following issues were noted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1, 2, 4-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are drawn to a data manipulation method which does not communicate the final result to a user. As such, the method does not end with the production of a concrete, tangible and useful result as required. A step of displaying the selected probes, or communicating the set of selected probes to a user may overcome this rejection. See MPEP2106.

MPEP 2106: A claim is limited to a practical application when the method, as claimed, produces a concrete, tangible and useful result; i.e., the method recites a step or act of producing something that is concrete, tangible and useful. See AT &T, 172 F.3d at 1358, 50 USPQ2d at 1452. Likewise, a machine claim is statutory when the machine, as claimed, produces a concrete, tangible and useful result (as in State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373, 47 USPQ2d at 1601) and/or when a specific machine is being claimed (as in Alappat, 33 F.3d at 1544, 31 USPQ2d at 1557 (in banc))."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 10, 11, 13-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: a means for outputting the result of the methods and selecting steps. The system merely comprises a processor, memory, and some software. No means for input or output are provided.

Claims 19, 20, 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: a step of outputting the result of the selecting steps. The computer readable media comprises the software, which comprises an input step, and data manipulation steps. No steps for output are provided.

Conclusion

The claims appear to be free of the art of record.
